DOMINION DAY

With loud huzzas and merry bells and cannon's thundering peal
And pennons fluttering on the breeze and serried rows of steel,
We greet again, the birthday morn of our young giant's land,
From the Atlantic stretching wide to far Pacific strand;
With flashing rivers, ocean lakes and prairies wide and free,
And waterfalls and forests dim, and mountains by the sea;
A country on whose birth-hour smiled the genius of romance,
Above whose cradle brave hands waved the lily-cross of France;
Whose infancy was grimly nursed in peril, pain and woe;
Whose gallant hearts found early graves beneath Canadian snow;
When savage raid and ambuscade and famine's sore distress,
Combined their strength in vain to crush the dauntless French noblesse;
When her dim, trackless forest lured, again and yet again,
From silken court of sunny France, her flower, the brave Champlain.
And now, her proud traditions boast four blazoned rolls of fame,— Crecy's and Flodden's deadly foes our ancestors we claim;
Past feud and battle buried far behind the peaceful years,
While Gaul and Celt and Briton turn to pruning hooks their spears;
Four nations welded into one—with long historic past,
Found in these our western wilds, one common life, at last;
Through the young giant's mighty limbs, that stretch from sea to sea,
There runs a throb of conscious life—of waking energy,
From Nova Scotia's misty coast to far Columbia's shore,
She wakes,—a band of scattered homes and colonies no more,
But a young nation, with her life full beating in her breast,
A noble future in her eyes—the Britain of the West.
Hers be the noble task to fill the yet untrodden plains
With fruitful, many-sided life that courses through her veins;
The English honor, nerve and pluck—the Scotsman's love of right—
The grace and courtesy of France—the Irish fancy bright—
The Saxon's faithful love of home, and home's affection blest;
And, chief of all, our holy faith—of all our treasures best.

—Agnes Maule Machar (Fidelis)

The History of Our Dominion

during the sixty years since Confederation, has been a history of Growth and Progress. The solid foundation laid by our Forefathers has enabled us to grow and prosper beyond the most romantic dreams of the Fathers of Confederation.

The History of the Security Lumber Company Limited

is linked closely with the history of our Province. The Security Lumber Company, Limited, was organized by men who were closely connected with the settling up of our prairies, and it is our proud boast that the Founders of our Company have been leaders in the bringing in of settlers, and the building up of our Province.

The solid foundation of our country's Growth and Prosperity has been the farmer and home owner. "Own a Home of Your Own" means that you are starting on the proper foundation. We can furnish you with everything that's needed, complete with the plan, and before you realize it you will be turning the key in a Real Home of Your Own.

DELEGATES TO THE QUEBEC CONFERENCE, OCTOBER, 1864

FROM CANADA:

SIR ETIENNE P. TACHE (1795-1865), Premier, Receiver-General and Minister of Militia.

It fell to the veteran Premier of Canada, Sir E. P. Tache, to preside over the Quebec Conference. He was a respected and experienced statesman, and his selection was a compliment to his race.

JOHN A. MACDONALD (1815-1891), Attorney-General for Upper Canada.

It is a curious coincidence that at his first election he declared his "firm belief that the prosperity of Canada depends upon its permanent connection with the mother country," and that in his last campaign in 1891, he gave his party the rallying cry: "A British subject I was born—a British subject I will die."

"One argument, but not a strong one, has been used against this Confederation: that it is an advance towards independence. Some are apprehensive that the very fact of our forming this union shall hasten the time when we shall be severed from the mother country. I have no apprehension of that kind. I believe it will have a contrary effect."

"So long as that alliance is maintained, we enjoy, under her protection, the privilege of constitutional liberty according to the British system. We will enjoy here that which is the great test of constitutional freedom—we will have the rights of the minority respected. In all countries the rights of the majority take care of themselves, but it is only in countries like England, enjoying constitutional liberty and safe from the tyranny of a single despot or of an unbridled democracy, that the rights of minorities are regarded. So long, too, as we form a portion of the British Empire, we shall have the example of her free institutions, of the high standard of the character of her statesmen and public men, of the purity of her legislation, and the upright administration of her laws.

"In conclusion, I would again implore the House not to let this opportunity pass. It is an opportunity that may never recur. It was only by a happy concurrence of circumstances that we were enabled to bring this question to its present position. If we do not take advantage of the time, if we show ourselves unequal to the occasion, it may never return, and we shall hereafter bitterly and unavailingly regret having failed to embrace the happy opportunity now offered, of founding a great nation under the fostering care of Great Britain, and our Sovereign Lady, Queen Victoria."

GEORGE F. CARTIER (1814-1873), Attorney-General for Lower Canada.

"We can form a vigorous confederation whilst leaving the provincial governments to regulate local affairs," he said. "There are no obstacles which human wisdom cannot overcome. All that is needed to triumph is a strong will and a noble ambition. When I think of the great nation we could constitute if all the provinces were organized under a single government, I seem to see arise a great Anglo-American power. The Provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia represent the arms of the national body, embracing the commerce of the Atlantic. No other will furnish a finer head to this giant body than Prince Edward Island, and Canada will be the trunk of this immense creation. The two Canadas, extending far westward, will bring into Confederation a vast portion of the western territory."

GEORGE BROWN (1818-1880), President of the Executive Council.

"One hundred years have passed away since the conquest of Quebec, but here sit children of the victor and of the vanquished, of avowed hearty attachment to the British Crown—all earnestly deliberating how we shall best extend the blessings of British institutions; how a great people may be established on this continent in close and hearty connection with Great Britain. Where in the pages of history shall we find a parallel to this? Will it not stand as an imperishable monument to the generosity of British rule? Does it not lift us above the petty policies of the past, and present to us high purposes and great interest that may yet call forth all the intellectual ability and all the energy and enterprise to be found among us?"

And well, Mr. Speaker, may the work we have unitedly proposed rouse the ambition and energy of every true man in British America. Look, Sir, at the map of the continent of America. Newfoundland, commanding the mouth of the noble river that almost cuts our continent in twain, is equal in extent to the Kingdom of Portugal. Cross the straits to the mainland, and you touch the hospitable shores of Nova Scotia, a country as large as the Kingdom of Greece. Then mark the sister Province of New Brunswick—equal in extent to Denmark and Switzerland combined. Pass up the St. Lawrence to Lower Canada—a country as large as France. Pass on to Upper Canada—twenty thousand square miles larger than Great Britain and Ireland put together. Cross over the continent to the shores of the Pacific, and you are in British Columbia, the land of golden promise—equal in extent to the Austrian Empire. I speak not now of the vast Indian Territories that lie between, greater in extent than the whole soil of Russia—and that will, ere long, I trust, be opened up to civilization, under the auspices of the British American Confederation. Well, Sir, the bold scheme in your hands is nothing less than to gather all these countries into one; to organize them under one government, with the protection of the British flag, and in heartiest sympathy and affection with our fellow-subjects in the land that gave us birth. Our scheme is to establish a government that will seek to turn the tide of immigration into this northern half of the American continent; that will strive to develop its great natural resources, and that will endeavor to maintain liberty and justice, and Christianity throughout the land.

What we propose now is but to lay the foundations of the structure, to set in motion the governmental machinery that will, one day, we trust, extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific. And we take especial credit to ourselves, that the system we have devised, while admirably adapted to our present situation, is capable of gradual and efficient expansion in future years to meet all the purposes contemplated by our scheme. But, if honorable gentlemen will recall to mind that when the United States seceded from the Mother Country, and for many years afterwards, their population was not nearly equal to ours at the present moment, that their internal improvements did not then approach to what we have already attained; and that their trade and commerce was not a third of what ours has already reached, I think they will see that the fulfilment of our hopes may not be so very remote, as at first sight might be imagined. And they will be strengthened in that conviction, if they remember that what we propose to do is to be done with the cordial sympathy and assistance of that great Power of which it is our happiness to form a part.

OLIVER MOWAT (1820-1903), Postmaster-General.

"In view of the history of the country and of what is now known of its immense possibilities, there have grown up among its people, alongside of the old attachment to the British name and the British nation and the pride felt in British achievements in peace and war, a profound love for Canada also, a pride in Canada and hopes of Canada as one day to become a great British nation; British, whether in a political sense in connection or not with the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland; British, because Britain is the nation of the birth or origin of most of us, and has the profoundest respect and admiration of all; British, because Canadians retain more of British institutions and British peculiarities than are possessed in other lands; British, because of most of its people being more attached to Britain and more anxious for its well-being than they are with respect to any other nation of the world."

ALEXANDER T. GALT (1817-1893), Minister of Finance.

"Possessing, as we do, in the far western part of Canada perhaps the most fertile wheat-growing tracts on this continent, in central and eastern Canada facilities for manufacturing such as cannot anywhere be surpassed, and in the eastern or Maritime Provinces an abundance of that most useful of all minerals, coal, as well as the most magnificent and valuable fisheries in the world; extending as this country does, over two thousand miles, traversed by the finest navigable river in the world, we might well look forward to our future with hopeful anticipation of seeing the realization not merely of what we have hitherto thought would be the commerce of Canada, great as that might become, but to the possession of Atlantic ports which we should help to build to a position equal to that of the chief cities of the American continent."

WILLIAM McDUGALL (1822-1905), Provincial Secretary.

"We think the work of coalition is not done, but only begun. We think that British Columbia should be brought into the Confederacy, that the great Northwestern Territory should be brought in, that Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland should be brought in. I say that the negotiation of the terms upon which these Provinces are to be brought in is as important, and that it is as necessary that the government in power should not be obliged to fight from day to day for its political existence, as when Confederation was carried up to the point we have now reached. Those who are of a different opinion will have an opportunity at the elections of saying so by condemning us who think it is our duty to remain in the Government. I think the coalition ought not to cease until the work begun under Mr. Brown's auspices is ended."

THOMAS D'ARCY MCGEE (1825-1868), Minister of Agriculture.

"I look to the future of my adopted country with hope, but not without anxiety," he said in the Legislative Assembly, soon after his election. "I see in the not remote distance one great nationality, bound like the shield of Achilles, by the blue rim of ocean. I see it quartered into many communities, each disposing of its internal affairs, but all bound together by free institutions, free intercourse and free commerce. I see within the round of that shield the peaks of the western mountains and the crests of the eastern waves, the winding Assiniboine, the five-fold lakes, the St. Lawrence, the Ottawa, the Saguenay, the St. John and the Basin of Minas. By all these flowing waters, in the valleys they fertilize, in all the cities they visit in their courses, I see a generation of industrious, contented, moral men, free in name and in fact—men capable of maintaining in peace and in war a constitution worthy of such a country."

Canadian Born

We first saw the light in Canada, the land beloved of God;
We are the pulse of Canada, its marrow and its blood:
And we, the men of Canada, can face the world and brag
That we were born in Canada beneath the British flag.

Few of us have blood of kings, few are of courtly grace,
But few are vagabonds or rogues of doubtful name and worth;
And all have one credential that entitles us to brag—
That we were born in Canada beneath the British flag.

We've yet to make our money, we've yet to make our fame,
But we have gold and glory in our clean colonial name;
And every man's a millionaire if only he can brag
That we were born in Canada beneath the British flag.

THE GREATNESS OF OUR HERITAGE

From an address by the Hon. John Schultz, Lieutenant-Governor, Manitoba, Dominion Day, 1891.

On the youth of Canada rests the future of this great country, the exemplification of the attributes of our great race. Recreant to this trust they may possibly be, but I see nothing to disturb my deep-seated conviction that they will continue as we have begun; and building this nation in the fear of Him Who gave us this great heritage, with love for her who gave us national life, endeavoring, as we have done, to dissolve all differences and melt away all jealousies in the crucible of moderation and justice, they will be strong enough to preserve its unity and successful enough to cause the day we now celebrate to be even more deeply honored, and to rejoice in that birthright which, to my mind, is even now the highest and best the world contains.

You will prosper so long as you are worthy of this great trust; you will be blessed in preserving it and strengthening it, so long as you seek divine aid to maintain it as the most precious of your birthrights, and you will rise to that place as a people in the great Empire, of which we form a part, in proportion as you follow His precepts and obey His divine law. Great as you are now, greater you will become, and as citizens of Canada, citizens of the Great British Empire, you will fulfil the prophecy of the Druid priest of Boadicea, the first British Queen:

*"Regions Caesar never knew
Your posterity shall sway,
Where his eagles never flew,
None invincible as they."*

THE FUTURE OF CANADA

From a speech delivered by Lord Dufferin, in Toronto, a few days before the close of his term as Governor-General.

What, then, is to be my valediction—my parting counsel to the citizens of the Dominion before I turn my face to the wall? A very few words will convey them. Love your country, believe in her, honor her, work for her, live for her, die for her. Never has any people been endowed with a nobler birthright, or blessed with prospects of a fairer future.

SOURCES OF CANADIAN POWER

Truly, you present the spectacle of a nation already possessing the means to make its position respected by sea or by land. I esteem those men favored indeed, who, in however slight a degree, have had the honor to take part in the councils of the statesmen who, in this early era of her history, are moulding a nation's laws. For me, I feel that I can be ambitious of no higher title than to be known as one who administered its government in thorough sympathy with the hopes and aspirations of its founders, and in perfect consonance with the will of its free parliament.

CANADA

And so, secluded from all extraneous influences, nestling at the feet of her majestic mother, Canada will, with confidence and hope, dream her dream and forebode her destiny—a dream of ever-broadening harvests, multiplying towns and villages and expanding pastures; of constitutional self-government and a confederated empire; of page after page of honorable history, added as her contribution to the annals of the Mother Country and to the glories of the British race; of a perpetuation for all time upon this continent of that temperate and well-balanced system of government which combines in one mighty whole as the eternal possession of all Britons, the brilliant history and traditions of the past with the freest and most untrammelled liberty of action in the future.

LORD DUFFERIN.

"Canadian loyalty is a firm attachment to that British constitution and those British laws, adopted or enacted by ourselves which best secure life, liberty and prosperity, and which prompt us to Christian and patriotic deeds by linking us with all that is grand and noble in the traditions of our national history."

BRITAIN'S OVERSHADOWING POWER

The proudest position Great Britain could occupy is that the overshadowing power and influence which she has so long possessed in giving shape to the destinies and relations of nations has always been exercised with a view to the amelioration of the conditions of mankind; that she has the will as well as the power to maintain, in a great measure, the peace of the rest of the world, and that prosperity, peace and contentment have followed her flag all over the earth, upon whatever soil it has been planted. I hope its march of triumph will never be interrupted until it shall become the one absorbing and powerful instrumentality in the hands of Providence for the prevention of war, the extension of commerce, and the promotion of the arts of peace. To the full extent of their power Her Majesty's Government in Canada would contribute to the development and maintenance of this sentiment.

ALEXANDER MACKENZIE.

THE BENEFITS OF BRITISH INSTITUTIONS

We are a free and happy people; and we are so owing to the liberal institutions by which we are governed, institutions which we owe to the exertions of our forefathers and the wisdom of the Mother Country. Now, to properly estimate the value of the institutions by which we are ruled today, let us compare the present state of the country with what it was before they were granted to us.

Forty years ago the country was in a state of feverish commotion, a prey to an agitation which, a few months later, broke out in rebellion. The British Crown was only maintained in the country by the force of powder and ball. And yet what were our predecessors seeking? They were asking for nothing more than the institutions which we have at present; those institutions were granted to us and loyally applied; and see the result: the British flag floats over the old citadel of Quebec, it floats tonight over our heads without a single British soldier in the country to defend it, its sole defence resting in the gratitude which we owe it for our freedom and the security which we have found under its fold.

Where is the Canadian who, comparing his country with even the freest countries, would not feel proud of the institutions which protect him? Where is the Canadian who, passing through the streets of this old city and reaching the monument raised a few steps from here to the memory of the two brave men who died on the same field of battle while contending for empire in Canada, would not feel proud of his country? In what other country under the sun can you find a similar monument, reared to the memory of the conquered as well as of the conqueror? In what other country under the sun will you find the names of the conquered and the conqueror equally honored and occupying the same place in the respect of the population?

WILFRID LAURIER.

From a speech delivered in the House of Commons, in 1914, by the Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"Sir, it will go down on a still nobler page of history that England could have averted this war if she had been willing to forego the position which she has maintained for many centuries at the head of European civilization; if she had been willing to desert her allies, to sacrifice her obligations. At that price England would have secured peace; but her answer to the German Emperor was: 'Your proposals are infamous.' And rather than accept them, England has entered into this war; and there is not today all over the universe a British subject, there is not outside the British Empire a single man whose admiration for England is not greater by reason of this firm and noble attitude."

* * *

From a speech delivered in Guildhall, London, England, in 1915, by the Right Hon. Sir Robert Borden.

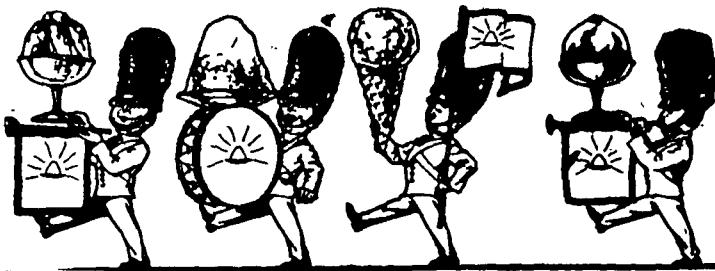

Last week I looked into the keen, intent faces of 10,000 Canadian soldiers within sound and range of the German guns. Three days ago I looked into the undaunted eyes of 1,000 Canadian convalescents returned from the valley of the shadow of death. In the eyes and in the faces of those men I read only one message, that of resolute and unflinching determination to make our cause triumphant, to preserve our institutions and our liberties, to maintain the unity of our Empire and its influence throughout the world. That message I bring to you also from the great Dominion which has sent those men across the sea. While the awful shadow of this war overhangs our Empire I shall not pause to speak of what may be evolved in its constitutional relations. Upon what has been built in the past, it is possible, in my judgment, that an even nobler and more enduring fabric may be erected.

Sixty Years of Progress

(Specially written by the Moose Jaw Board of Trade)

HE PASSING of The British North America Act by the Imperial Parliament, early in 1867, brought the Dominion of Canada into actual existence. This infant daughter of an illustrious mother comprised a confederation of the Provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. It is interesting to note that even in those far-off days, provincial autonomy was not less valued than it is today, and the enabling Act made due provision for local government, whilst at the same time reserving national affairs to the newly created Federal Parliament.

The Diamond Jubilee of Confederation has been aptly termed "Sixty Years of Canadian Progress," because during those years the four original partners were added to by five others, namely: the Provinces of Manitoba, British Columbia, Prince Edward Island, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

No review of the amazing progress and all-round development by Canada during the past sixty years is possible without a background briefly outlining the development and extension of responsible government that led up to the historical conference at Quebec, in October, 1864, the final resolutions of which formed the cornerstones of The British North America Act, the passing of which by the Imperial Parliament, in March, 1867, gave birth to the Dominion of Canada, which came into existence on the first day of July, 1867.

The Constitutional Act of 1791 gave a measure of responsible government to both Upper and Lower Canada, but friction was constant between the Legislative Assemblies and the Governors. This condition led to the abortive rebellions of 1837 and 1838; the latter union of the two Canadas, and the subsequent decision of the Imperial authorities to give the union definitely responsible government. During the first few years of the union, the authority and extent of responsible government was always open to question, but following the creation of the Lafontaine-Baldwin Government in 1848, it was finally recognized that the Governor, like the King, did not govern; but the government was entrusted to whichever political party commanded the support of the majority of the members of the Assembly.

Meantime, far out on the Pacific coast, the Province of British Columbia was in process of birth, and ultimately, in 1866, British Columbia and Vancouver Island were united, and the Province of British Columbia created.

The dream of a united country first found expression as far back as 1789, but the absence of rapid communication and transportation facilities made the confederation of such a vast territory impossible. When railways and telegraphs became a reality confederation came within the range of practical politics.

In 1858 Alexander Galt publicly advocated a confederation of all the British North American Provinces, but nothing tangible resulted at that time. The proposal, however, continued to receive public attention and support, with the result that in 1864, a Coalition Government was formed for the purpose of securing definite action in the matter. Finally, the resolutions of the Quebec Conference, to which reference has already been made, were taken to the Imperial authorities, and, after due consideration, revision and minor amendments, the enabling legislation was passed by the British Houses of Parliament, assented to by the Crown, and on July 1st, 1867, the Dominion of Canada came into existence.

The early years of Confederation were of a somewhat stormy character, but under the brilliant leadership of Sir John A. Macdonald, the consolidation of the country proceeded gradually, though, perhaps, at times more slowly than had been hoped for. In 1870, Manitoba was admitted into Confederation as the fifth Province of the Dominion. In 1871, British Columbia entered Confederation under an agreement requiring the construction of what is now known as the Canadian Pacific Railway. In 1873, Prince Edward Island threw in her lot "for better or for worse" with the expanding Dominion. In the latter part of 1880, all British possessions in North America and the adjacent islands, excepting Newfoundland and its dependencies, were annexed to Canada, the order-in-council dealing with the matter having the effect of extending the Dominion far northward into the Arctic regions. A few years later extensive negotiations for the inclusion of Newfoundland in the Dominion came to naught, and Britain's "oldest Colony" still retains her own identity and government. The inclusion of Newfoundland in the Dominion of Canada will always remain an ideal and much hoped-for reality by the Canadian people, but its realization is not yet at hand.

In 1905, the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed out of the then North-West Territories, and in 1912, the boundaries of Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec were extended northward to Hudson's Strait and Hudson's Bay, James Bay and the 60th parallel of latitude. North of the 60th parallel, Canada formed, for the purposes of administration, territories known as Yukon, Mackenzie, Keewatin and Franklin, the last named including the islands of the Arctic Ocean.

In the sixty years that have passed since Confederation the area of Canada has been considerably enlarged. The original four partners had territory containing 350,188 square miles of land and inland waters. Today, the Dominion of Canada contains an area of nearly 3,800,000 square miles, or more than ten times the area as at Confederation.

It follows, therefore, that the natural resources of such a vast territory are those of a continent, rather than a country, and that they must, of necessity, be extremely varied. It is doubtful whether there is anywhere else in the world such a relatively small number of people, certainly less than 10,000,000, in absolute possession of such enormous undeveloped natural resources as have so far been uncovered in Canada. To this fact is largely due the further fact that British and American capital invested in the natural resources development of Canada exceeds five thousand millions of dollars—and that sum does not include the capital investments of the Canadian people themselves.

The natural resources of Canada consist mainly of agricultural lands, forests, fisheries, minerals, water powers, and fur-bearing animals. It has been estimated that there are no less than 360,000,000 acres of arable land in Canada, only 20% of which is as yet under cultivation. The timber lands of Canada have been estimated at 1,227,000 square miles, containing nearly 250,000,000,000 cubic feet of timber. It has been estimated that the Canadian Atlantic fishing grounds cover more than 200,000 square miles, whilst other territories include the inshore expanses of the St. Lawrence River, the Great Lakes, Hudson's Bay and the Pacific Coast. The last named, with vast salmon fisheries, accounts for two-fifths of the fish products of the entire Dominion. It is difficult to write of the mineral resources of Canada because, relatively speaking, little has been done as yet to explore them; but some elementary facts may be briefly referred to. Canada is said to contain one-sixth of the entire coal reserves of the whole world. Eighty-five per cent. of Canada's share is located in the Province of Alberta, where it has been estimated that the deposits of coal approximate sixty billion tons. Extensive oil fields exist in the West, and these will unquestionably be developed when the world's petroleum fields begin to show approaching exhaustion. The water area of Canada extending to 142,900 square miles, distributed throughout the Dominion, provides a large amount of potential electric energy. It has been estimated that there are 19,000,000 h.p. available at a minimum yearly flow, and that under the maximum of favorable conditions this would be increased to approximately 45,000,000 h.p. The present installation represents approximately 10% only of the possible development. The water powers of Canada have, so far, been used chiefly in the pulp and paper industries, in mining and flour milling. This aptly termed "white coal" enables the thriving industrial centres of Quebec and Ontario to carry on and expand despite the absence of large supplies of ordinary steam coal. In the northern and unsettled areas of Canada, one of the chief resources is the fur-bearing animals, whose skins are in great and increasing demand. The breeding of foxes for their fine skins, is also developing rapidly in Eastern Canada, Prince Edward Island giving the Dominion a strong lead in this direction. There are about 2,500 fox farms in Canada at the present time, with the value of their annual output estimated at $15,000,000.

Saskatchewan, in common with the other Provinces of the Dominion, enjoys the British system of responsible government. The province is governed by a legislative body of 65 members, out of which a cabinet of seven is selected by the Premier, the latter invariably being the leader of the party having a majority in the House. In keeping with the fundamental principles of self-government which constitutes the secret of British rule everywhere, the provincial government grants to local authorities the right to manage their own local affairs in such manner as they desire, restricted only so far as is necessary in the interests of the Province at large. Saskatchewan has been aptly described as "The Bread Basket of the World." This assertion is literally true because, in reality, the Province is one vast farm, 750 miles from north to south and averaging 350 miles from east to west. Its annual wheat crop approximates 275,000,000 bushels, and this is equal to to 60% of the entire wheat crop of the Dominion of Canada. The overwhelming influence of agricultural activity is seen in the fact that 75% of the Province's population is classed as rural and only 25% as urban. The problem of a better balanced population is one to which the best minds of the Province and the Dominion are devoting much careful study at the present time. By many the opinion is strongly held that one solution is the development of industry based upon the agricultural activities of the greater part of the population; that is to say, every possible encouragement should be given to flour mills, packing plants, creameries, cheese factories, tanneries, soap factories, and any other industry that draws its essential raw materials from farming operations. Whilst the gross agricultural production of Saskatchewan is exceeded by that of Ontario, its per capita production is much greater than the per capita of Ontario. The agricultural production of the Province of Saskatchewan, $371 per head, is not approached by any other province except Alberta, which is $341. Ontario comes third with $151 per head.

The Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta contain more than one-half of the total arable land of Canada, with Saskatchewan the heart of these vast plains. Farming in Saskatchewan, therefore, rests on vast resources of lands that can be cultivated with profit. These are largely situated in the southern half of the Province; hence the leading part taken by Southern Saskatchewan in the development which has taken place since the opening of the present century, when adequate transportation facilities and favorable marketing conditions opened the door to commercial expansion.

One of the most influential agricultural industries of the Province is the milling industry. The world famous Robin Hood Mills, located at Moose Jaw, are the second largest flour mills in Canada, and stand first in oat milling. Their products are found all over the world—always with their caption—“MADE IN MOOSE JAW, SASK.” Whilst “Wheat is King,” dairying and stock raising are developing with amazing rapidity. The Province has nearly 100 Government supervised creameries which make more than 20,000,000 pounds of butter annually. Much of this finds a ready export market. Immense packing plants in the larger urban centres reflect the steady growth of stock raising. The plant of the Swift Canadian Company, located at Moose Jaw, has a daily capacity of 1,700 hogs, 1,000 sheep, and 700 steers. The Co-operative Stockyards, located at Moose Jaw, are amongst the largest in all Canada, and are equipped to handle 5,000 head of stock daily.

Saskatchewan believes wholeheartedly in the value of education. There are approximately 5,000 elementary schools with an average daily enrolment of 200,000 pupils; 25 secondary, or High Schools, with 7,500 students, and a Provincial University, located at Saskatoon, with an annual enrolment exceeding 2,000.

Saskatchewan has more telephones per capita than any other country in the world. The capital invested exceeds $14,000,000, whilst there are more than 100,000 subscribers amongst a population of less than 850,000.

Saskatchewan is uniformly prosperous. Her citizens own more automobiles per capita than any other country in the world with the sole exception of the United States of America. Over 95,000 auto licenses were issued in 1926, whilst it is confidently expected that the total for 1927 will be considerably in excess of 100,000.

Saskatchewan is healthy. She is immensely proud of the fact that she has the lowest death rate in the British Empire, or, rather, in the British Commonwealth of Nations. She has held this leadership for four years now, and intends to retain it indefinitely. She is daily proving the economy of wise, practical, preventative measures to guard and promote the health of her citizens.

The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool is the biggest co-operative marketing organization in the world. It has 85,000 contracts covering approximately 13,000,000 acres of wheat crops. The present contract expires in August, 1928, and already thousands of farmers are signing up for a further five-year term expiring in August, 1933. The Pool recently purchased all the elevator facilities of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevators, Ltd., and with the addition of those which it has already built, now operates 600 country elevators and extensive terminal facilities at Port Arthur and Buffalo.

tion by rail and road to all Northern Saskatchewan, thus opening up an immense farming territory of considerable promise. It is north-west of the Saskatchewan River, near Elbow, that the Provincial Government controls the valuable grazing leases formerly held by the Matador Ranch Company. Ten lines of railway radiate from Moose Jaw with several additional lines at present under construction.

Moose Jaw is also the Industrial Capital of Saskatchewan. The Robin Hood Mills have a daily capacity of 4,000 barrels of flour, 1,250 barrels of cereal and a large tonnage of stock foods. The packing plant of the Swift Canadian Company, Ltd., has a daily capacity of 1,700 hogs, 1,000 sheep and 700 steers. The Harris (Western) Abattoir Co., Ltd., also operate a packing plant here. The immense plant of the Southern Saskatchewan Co-operative Stockyards, situated on both the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, reflect the rapid development of mixed farming in the Moose Jaw district. Other industries include three well equipped creameries, a brewery and bottling works, an iron foundry, oil refinery, tannery, boot and shoe factory, brick yards, sash and door factory, welding works and dental laboratories.

The Moose Jaw district is a prosperous, well settled territory where crops are noted for their uniform quality and high yields. Although its productive capacity has not yet been fully developed, its annual production of wheat alone already exceeds 70,000,000 bushels. The City possesses one of the three Canadian Government Interior Storage Elevators, with a capacity of 3,500,000 bushels. The elevator is equipped with ample facilities for the treatment of damp or off-grade grain. Moose Jaw also has the plant of the Saskatchewan Registered Seed Growers' Association, who distribute large quantities of registered and clean grain, grass and sweet clover seeds throughout the West, and is building up an extensive export trade. The unique record of the Moose Jaw Agricultural Society, which won all the honors of the Provincial Seed Grain Fair at the University at Saskatoon, for seven consecutive years, 1919 to 1925 inclusive, and second place in 1926, was due, in large measure, to the use of registered seed. The farmers' co-operative movement had its birth and first home in Moose Jaw. In August next Moose Jaw will become a Grain Inspection Division, a development that will have far-reaching effects not only in respect to the City itself, but also throughout the whole district tributary to Moose Jaw. In view of the enormous tonnage of grain passing through Moose Jaw over both great transcontinental railways, Moose Jaw, in a few short years, is destined to share with Winnipeg the many practical benefits that accrue by reason of its being one of the great centres of the highly developed and influential grain trade of North America.

THIS is something we could not have said had we been in business at the time of CONFEDERATION, for then we had not the method of preparing foods nor the systems of scientific Refrigeration for caring for products which we enjoy today.

Great changes which have taken place in this Great Dominion will be mentioned, but no greater changes can be conceived than the departure from handling goods in bulk insufficiently covered from the attacks of flies, dust and a myriad ills, to the present sanitary system with so large a percentage of our goods delivered in hermetically sealed packets.

We aim to keep our goods up to the highest standard, and everything we have to offer we believe to be made from the finest goods obtainable, and prepared with meticulous care, and kept under the latest sanitary conditions.

Moose Jaw, with 50 wholesale houses, employing more than 300 commercial travellers, is the logical distributing point for the whole of the central, western and south-western portions of the Province. In this vast territory it has been computed there are two smaller cities, 70 towns, 175 villages and 200 hamlets. The lines sold cover an extraordinarily wide range and with the continued improvement in conditions generally and the steadily increasing population, both urban and rural, the development of Moose Jaw as a wholesale distributing centre is an assured fact.

To Moose Jaw belongs the unique honor of having organized the first public school in the old North-West Territories. School District No. 1—Moose Jaw—was organized in 1883. Today, the City has 12 modern public schools, two collegiate institutes, three residential colleges (two for boys and one for girls), and two well-equipped business colleges. The Public Library, built, equipped and maintained by the citizens, contains 25,000 volumes and public reading rooms well furnished with journals and newspapers. The reference library is considered to be one of the most complete in Western Canada.

Moose Jaw possesses two radio broadcasting stations—an amateur station (10 AB), operated by the Moose Jaw Amateur Radio Association, and a commercial station (CJRM), operated by Messrs. James Richardson & Sons, Ltd., the well known grain brokers. The latter is the most powerful station west of the Great Lakes and, due in a large measure, to the initiative and forceful representations of the resident manager, Mr. D. P. R. Coats, will relay the broadcasting of the King's Confederation speech to be delivered in London, England, on the morning of July 1st.

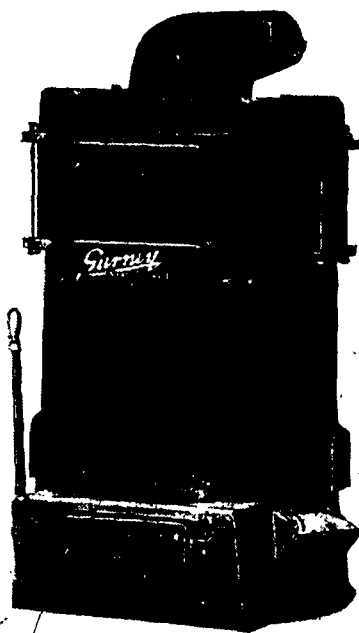

Moose Jaw is well known to the auto tourist who, from practical knowledge and experience, regards it as "The Friendly City." The City possesses an excellent tourist camp, whilst the Board of Trade operates a well-informed Information Bureau and Strip Map Service for the guidance and benefit of tourists and local motorists as well. The Board also publishes reliable road information daily through the columns of the local press, under the well known heading "How Are the Roads Today?" Moose Jaw is the Canadian terminus of the Powder River Trail (Moose Jaw to Denver, Col.), the Soo Line Highway (Moose Jaw to Portal, N.D.), and is an important point on the Trans-Canada Highway

A local Automobile Club is now in process of organization which, it is expected, will play an important part in the improvement of highways, the marking of trails and in the circulation of facts and information relative to all highways and motor roads in the Moose Jaw district.

The City of Moose Jaw enters upon the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation full of heartfelt gratitude to Providence for the many blessings vouchsafed to it during past years, and with the highest hopes that in continuing loyalty to her confederated provinces and her sister nations in the British Commonwealth, she may play her part worthily in the continued development of Saskatchewan in particular and of the Dominion at large.

RULE BRITANNIA

When Britain first at heav'ns command,
Arose from out the azure main;
This was the charter of the land,
And guardian angels sang this strain:

"Rule Britannia, Britannia rule the waves, Britons never shall be slaves."

The nations not so blest as thee,
Must in their turn to tyrants fall,
While thou shalt flourish great and free,
The dread and envy of them all.

The muses still with freedom found,
Shall to thy happy coast repair,
Blest Isle with matchless beauty crowned,
And manly hearts to guard the fair.

Synopsis "Making of the Flag"

Britannia enters with furled flag and requests all to listen to the story of the Union Jack. English, Scotch and Irish girls enter carrying crosses of St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick. Canada appears and appeals for the adding of the Canadian emblem. The Spirit of Long Ago enters and relates the story of United Empire Loyalists. Laura Secord appears, as do the boys of '66, South African Veterans, then the boys in khaki. At the end the Canadian emblem is attached to the Union Jack, and at the conclusion all join in forming a beautiful tableau.

The Station is interested only in community work. Every programme broadcast from the studio in the Bellamy Furniture building is given by the artistes without any thought but the pleasure of the listeners, and the staff of the Station give their services without any remuneration whatever. The work of the Station has been highly commended by friends, both near and far. It is the pioneer Station of Moose Jaw and was the first Station on the American continent to be owned and operated by the listeners-in; each member owns just $1.00 interest in the station—the amount of the yearly membership fee. The Association is at present installing a receiver and individual head phones in the Moose Jaw General Hospital, at a cost of nearly $2,000, and is seeking donations from the community for that purpose. All membership fees or donations may be sent to the officers.

NOTICES, CONDITIONS, ETC.

9.00 a.m.—Parade will assemble at the Armouries.

School children will be carried free by the Street Railway to the Exhibition Grounds between the hours of 8 a.m. and 9 a.m.

All school children taking part in the parade will be presented with a Canadian Flag.

The route of the parade will be as follows:

Armouries to Main Street; South on Main Street to Manitoba Street; West on Manitoba Street to Second Avenue; North on Second Avenue to Fairford Street; East on Fairford Street to Crescent Park.

THE FLAG WILL BE SALUTED AT THE CITY HALL.

His Worship Mayor Davidson, members of the City Council, School Boards, members of the Bench, Parliament and Legislative Assembly will be at the saluting point.

School children will line up on Fairford Street between Main Street and Crescent Park and allow the remainder of the parade to pass them. They will then march into Crescent Park, where the massed bands will lead the singing.

Bikes, Floats, Decorated Cars will form up on Third Avenue and Fairford Street East for judging.

The S.P.C.A. will select a point for judging where the noise of guns fired in the Royal Salute will not frighten the animals. (Point suggested—Fairford Street, East of Subway.)

SUNDAY AFTERNOON AT CRESCENT PARK

3.15 P.M.—THANKSGIVING SERVICE

G.W.V. and Salvation Army Bands will accompany.

DOXOLOGY

Praise God from Whom all blessings flow;
Praise Him all creatures here below;
Praise Him above, ye heavenly host;
Praise Father, Son and Holy Ghost. Amen.

PRAYER OF INVOCATION

Heavenly Father, by whose Spirit the hearts of men are knit together, grant that we this day may be so like-minded that with sacred zeal we may both worship Thee and love our neighbour. Put away from us all party bitterness and private feud that faithfully serving our generation we may glorify Thee through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Amen.

HYMN - "O God, Our Help in Ages Past"

O God, our help in ages past,	A thousand ages in Thy sight
Our hope for years to come,	Are like an evening gone,
Our shelter from the stormy blast,	Short as the watch that ends the
And our eternal home	night
	Before the rising sun.

Before the hills in order stood,	O God, our help in ages past,
Or earth received her frame,	Our hope for years to come,
From everlasting Thou art God,	Be Thou our guard while troubles
To endless years the same,	last
	And our eternal home. Amen.

PRAYER OF NATIONAL CONFESSION

O Lord our God, who has promised in Thy Word that if we confess our sins Thou wilt be faithful and just to forgive us and cleanse us from all iniquity, hear our prayer we entreat Thee as we acknowledge our sin before Thee.

Lord have mercy upon us.

Forgive us that, conscious of power, we have often used it amiss and with the pride of strength have imposed burdens upon others and oppressed our fellows.

Lord have mercy upon us.

Forgive us because, fortified with possessions and made blind by the accumulation of riches, we have so often forgotten Thee, made hard our hearts against Thy commandments and walked in paths of selfishness and pride of life.

Lord have mercy upon us.

Forgive us because in our greed of gain and self-interest we have suffered sin in our midst to pass unrebuked and injustice and hatred to make bitter the lot of many.

Lord have mercy upon us.

O God whose nature and property it is ever to have mercy and to forgive, receive our humble confessions; and though we be tied and bound with the chain of our sins, yet let the pitifulness of Thy great mercy loose us.

Lord have mercy upon us.

THE LORD'S PRAYER

HYMN—"O God of Bethel"

O God of Bethel, by Whose hand	Our vows, our prayers, we now
Thy people still are fed;	present
Who through this weary pilgrimage	Before Thy throne of grace;
Hast all our fathers led:	God of our fathers, be the God
	Of their succeeding race.

Through each perplexing path of life	Such blessings from Thy gracious hand
Our wandering footsteps guide;	Our humble prayers implore;
Give us each day our daily bread,	And Thou shalt be our chosen God.
And raiment fit provide.	And portion evermore. Amen.

PSALM LXXII, 1-8, 17 and 19—

Give the king thy judgments, O God, and thy righteousness unto the king's son.

He shall judge thy people with righteousness, and thy poor with judgment.

The mountains shall bring peace to the people, and the little hills, by righteousness.

He shall judge the poor of the people, he shall save the children of the needy, and shall break in pieces the oppressor.

They shall fear thee as long as the sun and moon endure, throughout all generations.

He shall come down like rain upon the mown grass: as showers that water the earth.

In his days shall the righteous flourish: and abundance of peace so long as the moon endureth.

He shall have dominion also from sea to sea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth.

His name shall endure for ever: his name shall be continued as long as the sun: and men shall be blessed in him: all the nations shall called him blessed.

And blessed be his glorious name for ever: and let the whole earth be filled with his glory; Amen, and Amen.

PRAYER OF NATIONAL THANKSGIVING

Almighty God, Creator and Ruler of all kindreds and peoples, whose sovereign will controls, whose everlasting mercy upholds the order of the universe, we give Thee all praise and honour for Thy goodness unto our Nation. We thank Thee for our goodly heritage, for the solemn beauty of the mountains, the mystery of the plains, the wealth of the waters, the riches in mine and forest and the manifold gifts of men. We praise Thee for pioneers who fought the wilderness and solitude that their children might be established in a sure place; for faithful men who preached the Gospel and grove mightily to build the nation on strong foundations, Jesus Christ Himself being the chief corner-stone; for the Fathers of Confederation who tolled for liberty and peace and have left us heirs of the opportunity they created; for the men and women who have given their lives in the service of their country. Grant, O Merciful Father, that we, rejoicing in our heritage, may so wisely use it that our children may rise up and call us blessed; and this we pray through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

HYMN "LORD OF THE LANDS"

Lord of the lands, beneath Thy bending skies,
 On field and flood, where'er our banner flies,
 Thy people lift their hearts to Thee,
 Their grateful voices raise:
 May our Dominion ever be
 A temple to Thy praise,
 Thy will alone let all enthrone;
 Lord of the lands, make Canada Thine own!

Almighty Love, by Thy mysterious power,
 In wisdom guide, with faith and freedom dower;
 Be ours a nation evermore
 That no oppression blights,
 Where justice rules from shore to shore,
 From lakes to northern lights.
 May love alone for wrong atone:
 Lord of the lands, make Canada Thine own!

Lord of the worlds, with strong eternal hand,
 Hold us in honour, truth and self-command;
 The loyal heart, the constant mind,
 The courage to be true,
 Our wide extending Empire bind,
 And all the earth renew.
 Thy name be known through every zone;
 Lord of the worlds, make all the lands Thine own! Amen.

PRAYER OF NATIONAL INTERCESSION

Heavenly Father, by whose Spirit we are constrained to pray for all sorts and conditions of men; we pray Thee for the King and Queen, the Royal House, the Governor-General and His Lady, and for all who are in authority that their wisdom may be equal to their opportunities.

We beseech Thee to hear us, O God.

For all in the Public Service, that it may please Thee to give them wisdom to plan and strength to perform such things as shall be to the honour of Thy Holy Name and to enable them rising above all self-interest and partisan spirit to devote themselves to the larger purposes of the common weal and of human brotherhood.

We beseech Thee to hear us, O God.

For Thy Church, that the beauty of the Lord her God may be upon her, that she may be so subject to Thy governance as to walk in the way of peace continually; that her ministers may have wisdom to discover and courage to declare, the whole counsel of God.

We beseech Thee to hear us, O God.

For all by whose labour we live and are enriched, especially those who endure hardship or loneliness to supply the needs of their fellows; for all engaged in professional pursuits, especially for those who minister to the sick, who teach the young, who shape the public mind and mould the nation's ideals, and for all who work in commerce and industry, that they may provide things honest in the sight of all men.

We beseech Thee to hear us, O God.

For all who have failed in purpose and endeavour, for all prisoners, for all in the bond of envy, for all who are wasted by anger or frivolity, for all in the gall of bitterness, for all who are giving way to despair, that they may be speedily delivered.

We beseech Thee to hear us, O God.

O Lord God may it please Thee to deepen the roots of our life in righteousness and faith. Send forth Thy Spirit upon our Nation. May it reach the heart of every form of oppression and rebuke the evil in our midst. Let it still the noise of strife and the tumult of the people, put to shame the false idols of our making, quicken the hearts of all men, bring faith to the doubting, hope to the fearful, strength to the weak, that more and more our Nation may be the instrument of Thy purpose and of Thy service in this world through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

HYMN—"GOD SAVE THE KING"

God save our gracious King,
Long live our noble King.

God save the King;
Send him victorious,
Happy and glorious,
Long to reign over us;
God save the King.

Our loved Dominion bless
With peace and happiness

From shore to shore;
And let our Empire be
United, loyal, free,
True to herself and Thee
For evermore. Amen.

BENEDICTION.

GOD SAVE THE KING

---

God save our gracious King;
Long live our noble King,
God save the King.
Send him victorious,
Happy and glorious,
Long to reign over us,
God save the King.

Thy choicest gifts in store
On him be pleased to pour;
Long may he reign;
May he defend our laws,
And ever give us cause
To sing with heart and voice,
God save the King.

THE MAPLE LEAF

In days of yore the hero Wolfe
Britain's glory did maintain,
And planted firm Britannia's flag
On Canada's fair domain,
Here may it wave, our boast, our pride,
And joined in love together,
With Lily, Thistle, Shamrock, Rose,
The Maple Leaf Forever.

CHORUS:

The Maple Leaf, our emblem dear,
The Maple Leaf forever,
God save our King and heaven bless
The Maple Leaf forever.

On many hard-fought battle-fields,
Our brave fathers, side by side,
For freedom, homes, and loved ones dear,
Firmly stood and nobly died;
And those dear rights which they maintained
We swear to yield them never;
We'll rally round the Union Jack,
The Maple Leaf forever.

God bless our loved Canadian Home,
Our Dominion's vast domain;
May plenty ever be our lot,
And peace hold endless reign;
Our Union bound by ties of love,
That discord cannot sever,
And flourish green o'er Freedom's home,
The Maple Leaf forever.

On merry England's far-famed land,
May kind heaven sweetly smile;
God bless old Scotland evermore,
And Ireland's Emerald Isle!
Then swell the song both loud and long,
Till rocks and forests quiver;
God save our King and heaven bless
The Maple Leaf forever.

—Alex. Muir, B.A.

O CANADA

---

O Canada! Our home and native land,
True patriot love in all thy sons command.
With glowing hearts we see thee rise,
The true North, strong and free;
And stand on guard, O Canada,
We stand on guard for thee.

O Canada! Where pines and maples grow,
Great prairies spread and lordly rivers flow.
How dear to us thy broad domain,
From East to Western sea.
Thou land of hope for all who toil,
Thou true North, strong and free!

O Canada! Beneath thy shining skies
May stalwart sons and gentle maidens rise,
To keep thee steadfast through the years
From East to Western sea;
Our Fatherland, our Motherland!
Our true North, strong and free.

—Hon. R. Stanley Weir, D.C.L.

MEN OF THE NORTH

---

Come if you dare to the Northman's lair, the tramp of your armies shall not shake us;
Shout if you will we are free men still; words cannot break us;
For we have the brain and the brawn and the blood of the Saxon and the Celt and the Gaul,
And we fear not any man but we'll do the best we can when we march to our country's call.

*Canada, dear Canada, men of the North are we;
For thee we live and for thee we'll die,
But aye thou shalt be free;
Canada, dear Canada, men of the North are we;
For thee we live and for thee we'll die,
But ever more thou shalt be free.*

A BEAUTY SPOT IN CRESCENT PARK

We are the men of the fair far north, the land of the maple spreads around us;

Here shall we live, not an inch we give; none shall confound us;
For we have the land and the grain and the gold and should foes for these e'er wish to try a fall,

Why they'll find that we can fight when we know we're in the right and we march at our country's call.

Men of the North! If to war we go forth, let our trust never lie in martial numbers;

But in that spark blest in each man's breast, the fire that never slumbers;

That hatred of wrong and that pride in the right, and the freedom that our forefathers won.

No! We'll never yield a jot but keep what we have got if we fight till the day is done.

—H. H. Godfrey.
